

Applebee's Names Angela S. Hornsby Vice President, Human Resources

LENEXA, KS -- Applebee's Services, Inc. today announced the hiring of Angela S. Hornsby as vice president, human resources. Hornsby, as a member of the senior executive team, will provide strategic leadership for the Company's human resources efforts including people and performance practices, talent management, leadership development, and organizational design and development. Hornsby's appointment is effective November 11, 2008, and she will report directly to Applebee's president, Mike Archer.

Hornsby possesses more than 12 years of human resources leadership experience including serving as vice president, human resources and vice president, learning and development for casual restaurant company T.G.I. Friday's. In addition to her human resources experience, Hornsby also has an extensive background in hospitality operations, including her most recent post as vice president, operations west division for T.G.I. Friday's.

Hornsby is the recipient of numerous honors for her work from leading restaurant industry authorities, including the 2007 Motivator of the Year award at the Elliot Leadership Conference. The award recognizes individuals that are pioneering the way and setting new standards of excellence in the area of human resources. She was also recognized by the Women's Foodservice Forum with the Emerging Leader award in 2005.

"We are excited that Angela is joining Applebee's as we embark upon a multi-year, multi-faceted strategic revitalization of the brand which will benefit from her cultural leadership abilities," said Mike Archer, Applebee's president. "Angela has specific strengths in the areas of change management and organizational development, and this will enable her to play a key role in crafting brand strategy."
